PARNELL'S MARRIAGE.

THE EX-IRISH LEADER MARRIED TO MRS. O'SHEA.

The Ceremony Takes Place at Steyning a Small Village ten Miles From Brighton —The Registrar and His Clerks the Only Witnesses to the Affair.

LONDON, June 25.—It is believed that Parnell and Mrs. O'Shea were married to-day. At half-past six this morning a closed carriage left Parnell's residence at Brighton, and was driven by a coachman, who displayed a white favor, to Steyning, a small town in Sussex county, ten miles distant from Brighton, where it is supposed the wedding ceremony was performed in the parish church. While not absolutely known whom the carriage contained, yet the fact that Mrs. O'Shea's house adjoins Parnell's, and the further fact that the door communicates between the two residences, making it possible for both persons to depart by the same, leaves very little doubt that the occupant of the carriage were Parnell and Mrs. O'Shea.

LONDON, June 25.—The marriage of Parnell to Mrs. O'Shea, at Steyning, is confirmed. The ceremony was performed by the Registrar, the only witnesses present being two of the clerks employed in that functionary's office.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

More Revelations in the McGreevy Scandal —Figures Given.

OTTAWA, June 25.—At the Tarte investigation to-day, Murphy read the following certified statement, supplied him by Martin Connolly, bookkeeper for Larkin, Connolly & Co., as to the different amounts or donations paid to the McGreevy's and their friends in connection with the Esquimalt graving dock:

August, 1885	$ 4,000
February, 1886	3,000
April, 1886	1,000
June, 1886	3,000
March, 1887	17,000
March, 1887	5,000
March, 1888	2,000
Total	$35,000

Opposite the item of $5000 was written, "Three Rivers, paid by M. Connolly."

The prohibition resolution of Mr. Jameson was shelved last night. Mr. Taylor's amendment in favor of a plebiscite was lost by a vote of 183 to 7, when Mr. Foster moved to refer the question to a Royal Commission to ascertain the effect a prohibitory liquor law would have on the social condition of the people, also the capability of an efficient enactment. After an exciting debate the House divided—yeas, 107; nays, 69.

NEW WESTMINSTER.

The Argyle Still High and Dry—Pilot Ettershanks Censured.

[Special to the TIMES.]

NEW WESTMINSTER, June 25.—An attempt was made to pull off the bark Argyle last night. Four tugs were hitched on, two at the bow and two at the stern and actually tried to pull the enormous vessel off broad side into the current running nealy six miles an hour. The wire hawser on the tug Pilot snapped and recoiled, smashing the bulwarks of the Argyle and narrowly missing some of the crew standing by. The ship settled back again as firmly as ever. She will be lightered.

The Board of Trade held a meeting last nighs, condemning the action of Pilot Ettershanks and recommending the pilot board to appoint a resident river pilot, and also a river surveyor and port warden.

A mass meeting last night at the Opera House was unanimously in favor of a Saturday half holiday.

Jas. Rankin Bright, a young student lately home from Dalhousie College, with high honors died late last night.

Jay Gould's Narrow Escape.

NEW YORK, June 25.—The Times says: It is not generally known that Jay Gould had a very narrow escape from being ground to pieces by a Hudson River railroad train a few days ago, at Irvington on the Hudson. Mr. Gould has kept his own counsel in the matter, but the facts were given to a Times reporter yesterday by an eyewitness of the scene. Mr. Gould boards a New York local train every morning at the Irvington station, to which he is always driven from his country place two miles away. The other morning as he and a few others stepped across the tracks at the station to take the 8:16 train for New York, a west bound express hove in sight, coming at a high rate of speed for it was a few minutes behind time. Its track was the one between the station and the local train, and standing on it, all obvious to danger, were Jay Gould and his fellow travelers. A station hand saw the express and gave a sharp yell of danger, at which all save Mr. Gould turned and leaped back to the station platform. Mr. Gould's thought were apparently miles away, for his head was bent and he was heedless of his peril. The other passengers were so terrified at the situation which developed in less than five seconds they seemed powerless to make a move. The baggagemaster, Barnard, pushed through them, jumped the track and grabbing the railroad king by the collar, jerked him back on the platform and before the absent-minded man knew what it all meant, the train had thundered by. By the time most of the spectators had regained their equanimity the rescued man was on his train for the city as cool and collected as though nothing had happened. It is stated, however, that Mr. Gould thanked the baggageman heartily.

A Flood.

WATERLOO, Iowa, June 25.—The terrible wind and rain storm, which began on Tuesday night, appears to have swept in a vast circle through north-western Iowa, with Cherokee as the centre. Seventy-five houses in that place have been carried away by the torrent, and how many lives have been lost is yet a matter of uncertainty. Most of the destruction in Cherokee was wrought by the extraordinary rise in the Sioux river, resulting from the tremendous downpour of water. The big truss bridge on which the Illinois Central crossed the river has also been carried away. Last night the Little Sioux was at the highest stage ever known. The best information indicates that the Illinois Central rails are under water continuously for many miles on the Onawa branch, and that the damage to roadway and bridges is enormous. Traffic will be delayed for many days. Other railroads beside the Illinois Central can hardly have escaped great damage, particularly the Chicago & North-western and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. As near as can be learned, the storm affects not only a huge stretch of country in Iowa, but a large portion also of Minnesota and Nebraska. Reports from Sioux City say the storm has almost devastated that portion of Iowa. No trains are running east. The Floyd river valley is inundated for 35 miles north of the city. The towns of Merrill, Hinton and James are completely submerged. Thousands of acres of crop are under water.

Villard's Return.

NEW YORK, June 26.—Mr. Henry Villard, with his family, sailed from Bremen for New York on the steamer Havel last Tuesday morning. Officers of the North American Company deny that Mr. Villard's return to this country is rendered necessary by any financial disturbance in that company. They say that the company is not in distress, but on the other hand it has a glorious future in store. The recent contract made with Thomas A. Edison is regarded as a very valuable asset. It is sweeping in its character and makes the company a full partner with Edison in all his inventions pertaining to electric railways now existing and to come. In addition to this the company is under contract to supply Cincinnati with a full electric lighting system and it has almost completed the transformation of the entire horse railway system in Milwaukee into an electric railway on the trolley plan.

An Actress Dead.

NEW YORK, June 25.—News was received in this city yesterday of the death, on June 5, at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, of Lillian Conway, the actress. Miss Conway was a daughter of Mrs. F. B. Conway, the Brooklyn manageress, and was prominent as an actress in this country for many years. She married a Mr. Cambios, a wealthy broker of Philadelphia, but was divorced. She was a sister-in-law of Osmonde Tearle, the English actor, who married Minnie Conway after her matrimonial alliance with Jules Levy, cornetist, and had been with her sister and brother-in-law in England for some time. She was buried at Whitley-on-Sea, England.

Treaty With Bolivia.

PANAMA, June 25.—The Iquiqui Opinion National, of the 27th ulto., publishes a telegram from a Molendo correspondent to the effect that the Congressionalists had entered into a treaty with Bolivia, by which the latter country cedes Antofogasta to Chili in perpetuity, Chili paying the debts contracted by Bolivia in Chili, amounting to $460,000, Bolivia to be allowed to import free by way of Antofogasta, while Chilian merchandise is not to be subjected to higher duties from Chili imports from Bolivia.

A Journalist Dead.

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—Col. Thos. Fitzgerald, of the Philadelphia Item, who has been travelling in Europe for the past two months, died suddenly in London this morning from an attack of la grippe. His son Writer was with him, and every effort was made to save his life but without effect. Col. Fitzgerald founded the Item in 1847, and it is now one of the most prosperous newspapers in Philadelphia. He was the oldest newspaper men in Philadelphia; 72 years of age.

A Poem for the Prince.

Unless the Prince of Wales should mend his ways, and should he drop off one of these days, there is a likelihood that some wag will try his hand at an epitaph similar to the one that was composed for Frederick, Prince of Wales, son of George II:

Here lies Fred,
Who was alive and is dead.
If it had been his father,
We would much rather;
Or his mother, or his brother,
Even if it had been his sister,
We would not have missed her.
If it had been his whole generation,
What a blessing to the nation!
But as it is only Fred,
Who was alive and is dead,
There is no more to be said.

OPPOSED TO LOTTERIES.

FEELING IN BERLIN AGAINST GAMES OF CHANCE.

A German Expedition Into the Interior of Africa—German Naval Officers Visits England During the Review—The Kaiser's Proposed Visit.

LONDON, June 25.—The clergy of the Evangelical Church, says a Berlin dispatch, are very generally opposed to the proposal to raise, by lottery, eight million of marks for the work of suppressing the slave trade in Africa, the grounds of opposition being that the lottery would do a vast deal of evil in Germany. This stand against lotteries is a surprise to many, and especially to the Government officials, who had not counted on any sentiment of the kind, when the idea was suggested. It is a fact, however, that for several years there has been a steadily growing sentiment adverse to all forms of gambling, including the lottery, and that many of the clergy have repeatedly warned their flocks to abstain from buying lottery tickets. The sale of such tickets, is, however, still extensive in Berlin and the large cities in Germany, and is said to be a leading cause of poverty among the working classes. In the army, the soldiers invest a large portion of their pay in lotteries, although very few ever win prizes. A good deal of wonder is expressed that the Kaiser should favor a lottery for any object, as he has set himself severely against gambling, and only last week quoted to Count Stolberg a remark of the great Napoleon, to the effect that he could not trust any one who gambled. There is also a feeling that the money to be raised is to be used really for the advancement of German power in Africa, under the pretext of putting down slavery.

TO PUNISH THE NATIVES.

Advices from West Africa state that the second German expedition has left the Cameroons river for the interior to punish the natives who destroyed the former expedition. The force is a formidable one and includes 300 white men and 1000 friendly natives. They had, however, a powerful enemy to encounter, the hostile chief being capable of putting several thousand well armed warriors in the field. It appears that some of the Germans captured in the former expedition were cruelly tortured before they died, and there is no hope of finding any of them alive. It is believed that by this time the Germans have wreaked a memorable vengeance upon the enemy.

VISITING ENGLAND.

Among the German visitors to England to see the naval exhibition is Vice Admiral Knerr, commander at Kiel, whom Americans will remember as having been the hero of a naval fight in the Gulf of Mexico in 1870, when with the German gunboat Meteor he damaged and beat off the French dispatch vessel Bouvel, of superior force. Admiral Knerr has received a sailor's welcome among the British naval officers.

TO PREVENT DISEASE.

The German authorities are taking extraordinary precautions to prevent the spread of infectious diseases from the Russian Jews who are flocking through the country, and visitors for this reason are no longer permitted to enter the vaults at Charlottenburg, where the exiles are permitted to rest, while the fugitives are hurried forward as rapidly as possible to their ports of destination for New York.

WHO WILL ESCORT HIM?

Contrary to recent report, Queen Victoria has not the intention of taking the place of the Prince of Wales as escort to the German Emperor, on the visit of the latter to London. The Prince and all the members of the royal family who can attend, except the Queen, will be present.

WILL DEAL LENIENTLY WITH HIM.

It is said that the Government is strongly disposed to deal leniently with the Jubraj, or Regent of Manipur, now under sentence of death for rebellion against the British Government. The government is satisfied that the Jubraj had nothing to do with the treacherous murders of the British officers, and it is possible that his sentence may be commuted to exile to the Andaman Islands, or some other penal colony. The Jubraj has made a pitiful plea for pardon. As for the Senaputty, brother of the Jubraj, his execution is certain, as well as that of the Tongul general, who first ordered the murders.

RECONCILED.

Salisbury has effected a reconciliation between Viscount Cross and Sir John Gorst, and the latter's resignation has been withdrawn.

THE EDUCATION BILL.

The education bill has passed a second reading without a division. The Bartley amendment, withholding its benefits from parents able to pay, was rejected.

THE QUEEN'S HOUSE WARMING.

The Queen will give two state banquets in St. George's Hall during the visit of the German Emperor and Empress at Windsor on July 4, the day of the arrival and on Tuesday following. On other two days the imperial visitors, the Queen and others of the royal family will dine in the grand dining room of Windsor Castle, which is now rarely used.

MUNSTER'S MARTYRDOM.

Count Munster is to be the victim of the blunder committed when the Empress Frederick went to Paris last February, for it is now understood that he is to be retired from the diplomatic service in the autumn and it is expected in Berlin that his successor at the German embassy in Paris will be Count Von Wedel, who has been for the last two years attached to the suite of Emperor William, and who was formerly attached to the German embassy at Vienna. Munster's compulsory retirement will increase the dissatisfaction among the older statesmen of Germany.

Bakers Engage the Police.

PARIS, June 25.—To-day at a meeting of six thousand bakers a resolution was adopted ordering a strike against a further continuance of the system of registery office. Immediately upon the adoption of the resolutions the strikers took their seats, when they formed a procession for the purpose, they declared, of marching upon the labor exchange. The police warned them to break ranks, but no attention was paid to this by the bakers, who with banners flying and uttering the rallying cries of the Socialists, attempted to thrust the officers aside, and force their way to the exchange. The police then opened and charged in marching column, but only to meet determined resistance from the bakers who without hesitating engaged in a hand to hand struggle with the officers. Reinforcements were promptly dispatched to the assistance of the police from reserves in the station house and finally, after a stubborn fight, the striking bakers broke away and dispersed. A number of the leaders of the strikers have been placed under arrest.

Steamer Wrecked.

LONDON, June 25.—The British steamer, New York, Capt. Thomas, from Swansea, Feb. 6, for San Francisco, has been wrecked on Staten Island, Terra del Fuego, while attempting to round Cape Horn. It was only with the utmost difficulty that the crew escaped with their lives.

Imprisoned for Life.

SHANGHAI, June 25.—Tsudo Saugo, the police officer who attempted to take the life of the Czarowich, was tried in the district court at Otsu on the 27th ult., found guilty of attempt to commit willful murder and sentenced to imprisonment for life at hard labor.

The Kaiser at Kiel.

BERLIN, June 25.—The Kaiser arrived at Kiel previous to starting on a journey to Holland to-day. The Kaiser went on a short cruise in his yacht Meteor, formerly the Scotch cutter Thistle.

The Record Broken.

SOUTHAMPTON, June 25.—The steamship Furst Bismarck arrived this morning, six days, 13 hours and 10 minutes from New York, beating the record.

NANAIMO NEWS.

The School Examinations—Gamblers Cleaned Out—Good Templars Picnic.

NANAIMO, June 25.—The closing of the girls' school took place yesterday, and in honor of the event the girls had tastefully decorated the rooms with all sorts of flowers and ferns, which gave to them a picturesque appearance. A large number of ladies were present to witness the interesting proceedings, which were very amusing. The programme consisted of singing, recitations and dialogues. A dialogue by ten little boys elicited much applause and laughter from the audience, and this was followed by a dialogue by six girls representing a few troublesome girls at school, reminding many present of things they had been guilty of in their school days. The teachers deserve to be complimented for the manner in which they have taught the girls, and such was the opinion of the scholars, who, to show their appreciation presented Miss Gardiner principal, with a handsome dressing case and a beautiful address in token of the esteem they hold towards her. Miss Mebius, teacher of the second division was the recipient of a like present, for which both ladies thanked the scholars in a few pleasant words. The two girls who distinguished themselves were Maud Charmbn and Mary Wall, both having passed successfully into the High school. The latter won a silver watch presented by Mr. A. Shaw for the youngest boy or girl who successfully passed the entrance examination into the High school.

THE GAMBLERS HAVE LEFT.

We are glad to notice a scarcity of that rambling element, "the gamblers," who of late have kindly given Nanaimo the "go bye," and it is only to be hoped they will extend their visit to other parts till they are desired here. The police have attended to their duties, in a most efficient manner, and to them the inhabitants are indebted for the scarcity of these people, and probably they no longer find that the Nanaimoites are a class of people that can be fleeced by them so that they have concluded to ply their nefarious trade elsewhere.

I.O.G.T. PICNIC.

The Onward Lodge of I.O.G.T., left the city early this morning for Nanaimo River, where they will hold a picnic, the Good Templars of Northfield had been invited and a joint picnic was anticipated, but last evening a letter was received from Mount Benson Lodge, asking it to be put off, as they were afraid it would rain. The Onward Lodge decided to hold another picnic in the course of a few weeks, so as to enable the Northfield people to join them.

LITTLE EVENTS.

The firm of Young & Bickle have dissolved, and Mr. J. Young will carry on the business alone.

The Masonic picnic has been indefinitely postponed on account of the rainy weather.

Mayor Hilbert stopped a man with a medicine company from exhibiting his skill at rifle shooting, on the ground that no shooting is allowed within the city limits.

Mr. W. Waters was admitted to the hospital yesterday suffering from a serious gash in the knee.

Railway Dividends.

NEW YORK, June 25.—The Vanderbilt roads declared the following dividends to-day: Lake Shore, 2¼ per cent.; Michigan Central, 1 per cent. and Canada Southern, 1½ per cent.

Our Jersey Creamery Butter is gilt edge. Dixi H. Ross & Co.

CLOSING EXAMINATIONS.

ANOTHER DAY OF EXERCISES AT THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The James Bay Ward School Closes This Morning—The Seventh and Eighth Divisions of the Boys' Schools Dismissed—This Afternoon's Exercises.

At the Central School this morning the boys and girls of the seventh and eighth divisions held their closing examinations. An interesting and amusing programme was presented by the little tots, who by their correct answers to questions and perfect recitations and choruses showed that they had been carefully trained. There was a large attendance of visitors, but the girls and boys went through their exercises as well as if no one but their teachers were in the room. The following is the

In the afternoon the assembly hall at the Central School was occupied by the boys and girls of the first and second divisions. Visitors as a rule naturally display more interest in the examinations of the higher divisions, as was manifested this afternoon. There was a larger number of ladies and gentlemen present, several of the latter addressing the children and complimenting both teachers and children on their work. The programme as can be seen was a most interesting one.

VANCOUVER WATER WORKS.

The Arbitration on their Purchase from the Company by the Corporation.

The arbitrators on the water works question began their labors yesterday morning. Those present were Mr. Justice Drake, presiding as third arbitrator; Mr. J. M. Browning for the city, and Mr. Tilton for the Water Works company. The city was represented by Hon. A. N. Richards and the city solicitor, Mr. A. St. G. Hamersley, and the Water Works company by D. M. Eberts, M. P., and E. V. Bodwell. Mayor Oppenheimer and Sir Joseph Trutch each occupied seats beside the counsel for the city and company respectively. Mr. R. Faircloush was appointed secretary. The morning session was spent in discussing details of how the case should be conducted. It was decided that the Water Works company should be made the plaintiff in the matter. They would be asked to put a price upon their works and property and then bring in evidence to substantiate their contention as to price. The city would then have an opportunity of producing rebuttal evidence to show what they considered the works worth.

The afternoon session opened at 3 o'clock and was occupied by Mr. Bodwell in presenting the claim of the Water Works company. In a very clearly put address of two hours he sketched the line upon which the company proposed to show the value of their works and property. He began by describing the works in brief. The system adopted, he said, was that of gravitation. It consisted of a dam on the Capilano River, the mains to the shore of Burrard Inlet, and submerged pipes across the Narrows, the mains through Stanley Park, under Coal Harbor, and through the city as far as Westminster avenue, with the distributing pipes throughout the city. He quoted from an able paper by H. B. Smith, read before the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers to give a clear idea of the surrounding country and the nature of the works as a means of supplying water to the city. The different sections of the works were gone over separately and described in detail. These consisted of 13,530 feet of 22 inch mains to the tunnel; the tunnel was 280 feet long, 4 feet wide and 5 feet high. Between the tunnel and the north shore of Burrard Inlet were 19,320 feet of 16 inch mains. At high water mark the main was divided into two 12 inch branches, one of wrought iron, the other of cast iron. Of these 1087 feet were submerged at low water mark and 2140 at high water. From Burrard Inlet to Coal Harbor there were 5041 feet of pipe, and 750 feet were submerged in Coal Harbor. From Coal Harbor to Westminster Avenue was 13,530 feet. The remainder of the works consisted of the cast iron distribution pipes within the city. There was now about two thirds of the city supplied with a water service, while the works would have been supplied to the balance had this arbitration not been pending. Besides the mains there were 67 hydrants, as well as relief valves and air valves where required. Mr. Bodwell then touched on what should be taken into consideration by the arbitrators in determining the value of the works. That value, he argued, should be what they are worth in their present condition, taking into account their gross revenue and the cost of operation and management, not what expenditure it might take to improve them to a certain standard or what the original cost of them may have been. Reviewing the history of the company, Mr. Bodwell pointed out that when the company was organized the city of Vancouver was not then incorporated; its population was not 1000 souls, and it was not at all sure that it would become a great city. The Legislature had made provision to encourage those who had the enterprise and capital to undertake so difficult a work, and had provided that the company should be paid an advance on their expenditure when the city desired to buy the works from them. In considering the compensation the valuable franchise the company possessed would have to be taken into account. The value of the works would be, not the cost of their construction, but what they would bring considering their adaptability to their purpose, the demand there is for the franchise, the quantity and quality of water, and the advantages of the system, should be taken into account in the computation, and as to the quality of the water that had never been impeached, as to the supply it was estimated that the Capilano river, without any improvements, would supply 400,000,000 gallons of water per day, sufficient for a population of 700,000 people. The system was by gravitation, with a sufficient head of water to give a pressure of 85 pounds at the Hotel Vancouver, and 140 pounds at low water mark. The works without any extensions would supply 300,000,000 per day, or sufficient for a population of 50,000. Mr. Bodwell then entered upon a lengthy calculation of the value of the franchise possessed by the company. According to an estimate of the Economist, a London journal, the franchise of certain waterworks companies in the vicinity of London was worth the revenue of 25 years, and then ten per cent. should be added for enforced sales. The books of the company showed receipts for the year ending May 31, 1891, to be $36,509.12, and taking this as a basis, he calculated that the value of the franchise of supplying water to the City of Vancouver, with its certainty of growing so rapidly, would be at least $1,875,000. He closed by urging that the Legislature never intended to transfer their franchise to the city for nothing and give the city power to purchase the works and property of the company, and the term property he took to mean the franchise of the company.

Mr. Justice Drake asked whether the company proposed to ask the 10 per cent. profits on the paid up capital of the company from the date of organization, or from the time of commencing the work.

Mr. Bodwell asked for time to consider the reply.

Hon. A. N. Richards suggested that the company's solicitor present a detailed statement of what they valued the franchise at.

Mr. Bodwell then asked for an adjournment till 10 o'clock to-day, when the accounts will be gone into.

The meeting then adjourned.—Vancouver News-Advertiser, June 24.

STOP IT NOW,
SOON IT WILL BE TOO LATE.
I have been troubled many years with disease of the kidneys and have tried many different remedies and have sought aid from different physicians without relief. About the 15th of April I was suffering from a very violent attack that almost prostrated me in such a manner that I was bent over. When I sat down it was almost impossible for me to get up alone, or to put on my clothes, when my Providence sent Dr. Hraley, with the OREGON KIDNEY TEA, to my hotel. I immediately commenced using the tea. It had an almost miraculous effect, and to the astonishment of all the guests at the hotel, in a few days, I am happy to state, that I was a new man. I will recommend the tea to all afflicted as I have been.

THE TARIFF CHANGES.

The Colonist is a great stickler for facts in so far as the TIMES is concerned. The TIMES having repeated a rumor that the revenue lost on sugar was to be made up by increasing the duty on tea, which has since turned out to be untrue, the Colonist would have us recant. And the TIMES does recant—had, in fact, a recantation in contemplation with this addenda: The Ottawa Government never acts except under compulsion. It is a total stranger to free volition and spontaneous progression. It never moves forward except that it is kicked from behind. Says our contemporary, "the new Government has begun well." The TIMES would point out that the remission of the duty on raw sugar lacks the virtue of a voluntary act.

If it is to be regarded a progressive step, as the Colonist seems to think, the credit of the thing is due the people who demanded the change. At the time it was reported that the loss of revenue on sugar was to be made up on tea, the TIMES thought it strange while it was possible to make up the deficit by an increased tax on whiskey and tobacco. The TIMES on several occasions during the past year has favored the increase of the tax on liquors and luxuries generally, and has wondered that it met no response, particularly from the prohibitionists. It did not expect the Colonist's indorsement of this view for the reason that the function of a Tory sheet is not to suggest but to meekly follow after and endorse. The TIMES congratulates the Government of the method it has employed to make up the deficit occasioned by the loss of duty on raw sugar; and the TIMES, also congratulates itself of being the only paper in the Province to forestall the Government's action in the matter.

IF NOT TRICKERY, WHAT IS IT?

The import of the correspondence brought down to the House in relation to reciprocity negotiations make it plain that for all it held the whip hand the Government went to the country with fear and trembling. With the prestige that office gives, with the condition of the voters lists which disfranchised not less than 150,000 electors, with the mails debauched in search of political capital, with the "old flag," with Sir CHARLES, with the financial support of the red parlor and of every contractor who had experienced favors and who hoped for more, with all these the Government was still afraid, and that it might strengthen itself still more, broke faith with BLAINE by making public a convention which it had promised to keep secret. BLAINE, it seems, knowing the men with whom he had to deal, suspecting them of seeking reciprocity and praying heaven at the same time that they should not be able to find it, proposed a private but full conference in which was to be gone over severally and exhaustively the points of difference between the two countries. If an agreement was reached well and good. If not, there was to be no official recognition of the matter. It was important in BLAINE'S estimation, that in the event of failure to arrive at a basis of agreement upon which negotiations were to be conducted that there should be no public reference to the affair. This was the understanding. But the informal conference was not held. The condition precedent insisted upon by BLAINE as the sine qua non to reciprocity negotiations had not been complied with; the exponents of N. P. had no right to think, much less declare, that that they had been invited to discuss reciprocity at Washington by the Secretary of State. But what did they do? From every stump in Canada they permitted it to go forth that the United States was open to reciprocity proposals, and that virtually all that remained to be done was to go to Washington, hold a pow-wow, and sign some papers. This, in unofficial language, was a point blank falsehood, and shows, not only, how desperate the leading Tory lights regarded their case, but to what lengths they were prepared to go to save their political scalps. Now, what does all this mean? Does it mean patriotism or does it mean politics? Does it mean Canada's interests, or just simply private interests? It should appear to even the opaque Tory mind that the motive at the bottom of all this juggling, this plundering of the mails, this cry of disloyalty and breaking faith with BLAINE was to secure private political ends. Canada's interests were not thought of. The overmastering idea was, what shall we do to be politically saved? But this is not all. The Government besides breaking faith with BLAINE was guilty of treachery toward its supporters. Are we to suppose that the red parlor was cognizant of the Government's proposition to renew the treaty of 1854 with "modifications" and "extensions" deemed by the commissioners in the interest of Canada and the United States? Here we have a proposition which means much or little, just as the Canadian commissioners should decide. We are bound to presume, however, considering that both Sir JOHN and Sir CHARLES had arrived at the conclusion that the day had passed for dust throwing, that these "modifications" and "extensions" meant the practical surrender of National Policy, the casting forth into a cold inhospitable world the pampered occupants of the red parlor. This would not have been so bad had Sir JOHN previously given notice that a modification of N. P. was desirable. But he had not declared such to be his intention or belief. On the contrary, he had gone to the country on the square N.P. issue alone. Declaring that a British subject he was born and a British subject he would die, and preaching red parlorism at the top of his voice, he nevertheless, at the same time was offering to negotiate a reciprocity treaty with Washington, the converse of his alleged principles. If this was not treachery what was it? It is impossible to make anything else of it. It is now as clear as the noonday sun that for renewed lease of political life, the Government had decided to throw their principles overboard. Sir JOHN is dead, and we would rather let the dead alone, but history is history, and Sir JOHN dead as well as Sir JOHN alive must abide by it. His last campaign was for political existence, and to insure it and perpetuate it he contemplated the abandonment of his pet policy, at least he would have permitted the emasculation of it to a degree that would have left it barely recognizable.

DECAY OF LONDON.

The decline of London's growth is the theme of an article in the London Spectator. On the strength of statistics recently published, the writer concludes that the Empire has passed the meridian of its growth. "London has expanded co-equally with the Empire," says the Spectator, "and both will decline in common and perish together when their mission of civilization has been fulfilled. That time will not come, however, for centuries."

An American paper, inspired by this dismal prediction, observes that if an "American writer had taken for his text the fact that recent statistics show a decline in the rate of London's growth, his opinion would have been received with impatience, and perhaps attributed to jealousy." This is a rash statement. Deductions as to England's destiny, based on statistics, are sure of a fair hearing from intelligent Englishmen. But the American or any other writer who writes of England and who draws his calculations from his own observations, these frequently superficial, is liable to be charged with jealousy and perhaps ignorance. Americans themselves have been written up and written down by scores of superficial observers, and they have resented it. They have never failed to point out that drawing inference from statistics and from mere personal and most frequently hasty observation, are two different things. The American who writes of England in the same candid spirit that Mr. BRYCE has written of the United States is sure to get a patient and respectful hearing. None know better than Englishmen that the England of the present cannot last forever. Some day she must begin to change, perhaps to decay, and one day London and New York may occupy much the same relative positions toward each other that did Rome and Constantinople. When England shall cease to be able to lead the world in manufacturing, her prestige as a leading nation will be endangered, and decay will begin. Another century will witness tremendous changes in England. The continent of North America, with its tremendous natural resources in the shape of mineral and coal, is an actual menace to England's industrial and commercial supremacy.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

There is a possibility of reform in the American courts. According to the Post-Intelligencer, Justice BRADLEY, in an address delivered at the opening of a new court of appeal, Philadelphia, administered a sharp rebuke to the American bar on account of the pernicious practice of taking appeals in all manner of cases on frivolous technicalities. The Justice, however, did not confine his arraignment to the bar. The bench, he held, was not guiltless, and he adjured it to be "more firm and prompt in the administration of justice." It is unquestionably true that the bench and bar of the United States are chiefly responsible for the prevalence of lynch law in that country. Had the bench and bar the confidence of the people, Judge Lynch would fall into a condition of "innocuous desuetude."

German and French military experts have of late devoted considerable attention to the wonderful chain of forts constructed by France on her eastern frontier to check anything like the invasion conducted by VAN MOLTKE. The fortifications, the defence of which would require half a million of men in the time of war, dot the whole frontier. Every fort, or intrenched camp, is within gunshot of the next one, is connected with the others by telegraph and linked in one great chain by a double track railway. Batteries between the forts occupy all positions commanding approaches. In some forts there are from twenty to fifty guns and some have as many as eighty. The slopes are so woven with wires and so mined with torpedoes that the stand of an enemy there and the undermining of the walls is a matter of impossibility. A prolonged and interrupted bombardment or lack of food would be about all that would compel the defenders of one of these positions to capitulate.

The following paragraph will be of interest to our merchants at the present moment, when subscribers are being solicited to a collecting agency, conducted, we believe, on simalar lines to the Chicago agency referred to:

The Jefferson City (Mo.), Tribune says: Some time ago a merchant at Mexico, Mo., placed a bill for $3.50 against a lady who resides in St. Louis in the hands of a Chicago agency for the collection of bad debts. The lady claimed that she did not owe the bill, but the merchant, through his agents, claimed that she did. She repeatedly received letters threatening to advertise the fact that she would not pay her debts. These letters were so marked as to attract attention. Finally the lady brought suit against the merchant and the jury awarded her $500 damages. After reviewing the case at length, the Supreme Court finds the verdict was fully warranted and that the woman is entitled to damages. This should prove a warning to merchants, many of whom are in the habit of doing business with these agencies. The law provides a legal method of collecting debts and the merchant who resorts to those agencies is liable to prosecution for libel at any time. The agencies undertake to collect debts by resorting to a system of blackmail, and every time a letter of this kind is mailed the merchant in whose behalf it is sent is liabel for heavy damages, and, possibly, criminal prosecution. The Missouri merchants who patronize such agencies had better close up their accounts with the same at once. One damage suit will cost him more money than what will be collected through the agencies in ten years.

Apart from the plan resorted to by these agencies to collect accounts, the experience of members of two former agencies which canvassed for and obtained numerous subscribers in Victoria, is that the benefits of the institution are not, for various reasons, taken advantage of. After paying the subscription fee, members generally pay no more attention to the concern, which is precisely what the glib-tongued managers expect. Like insurance companies, which make large profits through lapses, the collecting agency grow fat on subscription fees. If they are a good thing for both parties, why should there be a fee of $10, or any other sum, for membership? The commission on collections made should be sufficient. There are plenty of legitimate and effective methods to collect accounts and there is no need to resort to the blackmailing practices of irresponsible American agencies.

Preserving Season

Now come. A full line of fruit jars at R. H. Jameson's, 33 Fort street.

Just Received.

In stock, new tub butter, 35 cents per pound; three pounds for $1. R. H. Jameson.

The High School.

The public examination of the three divisions of the High School will take place to-morrow at 1:30 p.m.

Fourth of July Rates.

As usual the Union Pacific will sell tickets from all stations to neighboring cities at one fare for the round trip. Call on or write to me for particulars. M. J. Bissett, agent Union Pacific System, Victoria.

The Place to go to.

To make room for our new stock of goods that is coming, we will sell the stock in hand consisting of gent's furnishing, etc., at prices that have no equal. Our children's jersey suits will all be sold at cost. Lion Gent's Furnishing House, 74 Yates street.

Final Arrangements.

A meeting of the finance committee and the directors of the Jubilee Hospital was held this afternoon to make final arrangements for the establishment of a home for the poor and aged at the French Hospital. The council will take steps immediately to start the home.

Welcome Home.

Rev. Donald Fraser, of the First Presbyterian Church, with Mrs. Fraser, returned last evening from a visit to Eastern Canada. To-morrow evening the congregation will tender them a welcome in the Sunday school room. A programme of music and recitations will be presented.

Signed the Leases.

It is understood that the company which was organized for the purpose of leasing eight water front lots on Belleville street for the purpose of building wharves to-day signed the leases. The company will build large and commodious wharves along the front and have the channel dredged so as to admit the passage of vessels of all sizes.

Ladies Complaining.

A lady writing to the editor of the TIMES asks that mention be made of bathers up the Arm in the evening. She says she and other ladies have been annoyed more than once by the men and boys out swimming. As stated last evening, Officer McNeil has the matter in hand, so undoubtedly the ladies will not be bothered any longer.

Married Last Evening.

In the Pandora street Methodist church last evening Mr. G. McMartin was united in marriage to Miss Maggie C., eldest daughter of Thos. Durham. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. Watson, in the presence of a large number of friends of the couple. Miss L. Stafford and the bride's sisters acted as bridesmaids, Mr. Martin standing up with the groom.

Epworth League's Work.

The Epworth League is one of those organizations that is always up and trying to do good with their lamps kept well trimmed. About three months ago they started a Sunday school at James Bay which has now an average attendance of about 120. As this has been such a success, they have determined to open another one at Spring Ridge on next Sunday.

The Fruit Crop.

The fruit crop in British Columbia this season promises to excel that of last year to say nothing of the quantities of fruit imported from California. This large production will be followed by a correspondingly large consumption. To correct the irregularities arising from this cause nothing is equal to London Hospital Blackberry Balsam sold by cochrane and munn druggists.

At the Police Court.

The programme at the city's hall of justice was not an interesting one to-day. In the morning two drunks were fined $5 each for making fools of themselves and a man paid twice as much for going over James Bay bridge at a pace faster than a walk. In the afternoon a Chinawoman charged with keeping a house of ill fame was requested to appear again to-morrow.

The Scantling Broke.

A boiler maker named Jones, employed at the Albion Iron Works, was the victim this morning of an accident that will lay him up for some weeks. He was engaged with other men in hoisting one of the buoys that the company are building, when a scantling gave way and struck him on the back of the head. He was taken home where his injuries were attended to by his physician.

Chief Harry on a Drunk.

Harry, chief of a tribe of Saanich Indians, was before the provincial police court this morning charged with being in possession of an intoxicant. He is a little old man of about 60 years of age, and readily pled guilty to the charge. He was found by an officer on the reservation seated on the ground in the brush with three klootchmen around him to whom he was passing a partly empty bottle of gin. He was fined $50, which some of his people paid.

The Thermopylæ Arrives.

The British ship Thermopylæ, Capt. Wilson, Hall, Ross & Co., Victoria, owners, arrived in the Royal Roads at midnight, with a cargo of paddy for the rice mills. She was 60 days out from Cacao, the unusually long trip being occasioned by two storms and a succession of light winds. She encountered a heavy storm in the China Sea, on the 13th and 14th of May, the ship being on her beam ends these two days. Again on the 4th and 5th of June, while nearing this coast, a storm was met. The Thermopylæ, however, suffered very little damage. She will be brought around to her owners' wharf in a few days.

Better Than a Fish Story.

Sergeant Walker returned from New Westminster last evening and tells a ludicrous story of the feeling of the ex-teas there against Victoria. It will be remembered that the bark Argyle ran aground in going up the Fraser a few days ago. Now, for some reason, some New Westminsterites firmly believe that this accident was the result of a plot of Victoria to injure their port and to this end either the captain of the tug or the pilot were paid a large sum to run the Argyle aground, so as to damage the reputation of the harbor. Sargeant Walker says that the feeling is running so high there over the matter that a Board of Trade meeting has been called for to-night to take some action to have the matter sifted.

Must Go Sunday.

Dr. Seward, the celebrated expert optician of New York, is determined to keep his engagement in other cities, and will leave on Sunday next, June 28, notwithstanding the fact that his office, corner of Yates and Douglas streets, is crowded from day to day. This eminent scientific optician has given the Victorian public ample opportunity to consult him, and all those who have not already done so, or do not before Sunday, will have only themselves to blame, when they find it is too late. This is Dr. Seward's final visit to Victoria. He will go to Nanaimo for a brief period, after which, Vancouver and New Westminster will be visited before returning east. Those desiring to consult Dr. Seward, should call at once and as early as possible. Office will remain open from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m., and on Saturday till 7 p.m.

Two Sloops Seized.

Collector of Customs Milne this morning seized two small American sloops near Clover Point, pending an examination as to what their business was. They have been laying off the point for several days, and the two men that are with them have made several trips into the city. The boats were brought round to the horbor and Collector Milne commenced the examination which was in progress when the TIMES went to press. One of the men, David W. Vaun, testified that he was half owner of the two boats and his partner, Joe Johnson, owned the other half. They came originally from Seattle, but on last Monday sailed from Roach Harbor for Port Angeles, but stopped at Victoria to see the city. He said that they were fishermen and were going to Port Angeles to fish, and that he saw no one in Victoria. Nothing of a damaging character was found in the sloops, but they are suspected of being either smugglers or were on the lookout for a cargo of Chinamen for the States.

CALLED FOR COAL.

U.S. Steamer Alert Anchored in the Straits on Her Way North.

The U.S. steamer Alert, 1100 tons, Captain Hitchcock, and crew of 100 men, is lying at anchor about a mile off the outer wharf. She is seven days out from San Francisco, bound for Behring Sea. On the way up the Alert met with some heavy weather, and her supply of fuel running short she put into this port for coal and will take on about 110 tons.

Captain Hitchcock expected to find the Mohican at Victoria, as she only left San Francisco one day ahead of the Alert and was in much the same condition as regards coal. He thinks, however, that she has gone to Nanaimo.

No information could be gathered as to the special mission of the Alert to the north, as she sailed under sealed orders, but it is in connection with the closed sealing season as agreed upon by Great Britain and the United States.

U.S. Consul Meyers paid a visit to the officers of the vessel this morning, but did not learn what the orders of her captain were.

The Alert will leave on her northward voyage some time in the morning or as soon as she can get the coal.

WAS IT MURDER?

A Box Containing a Human Frame Found at Victoria West.

There is a small box, about two feet by one, that if it could speak might tell a pretty startling story. It was found this afternoon by Jno. Wilson and Geo. Bourne. The two were playing ball near Fairhall's brewery, at Victoria West, when one had occasion to go into a bunch of bushes after the ball. In looking around he found the box, which contained a human skull and all the bones of a man. The two men immediately took it to the city lockup where it now is. The bones are very old but on close observance it can be seen that the box has at some time contained flesh as well as bones. The bones must have been put in the box fully 30 years ago, so that any marks on the skull cannot be accounted for. There are three dents in the skull, however, that looked very ugly and the fact that the body was put into such a small box leads an observer to think that there has been foul play. A man that had died naturally would never have been put into such a small box and then hid in the woods. It may have been the work of Indians in the early days, but of course all suppositions are useless. There was nothing around the box which would help to identify the bones. The box is such a one as would be used for packing heavy goods. It is almost too late now for the police to take any action in the matter, but no doubt they will try to find out something that will give them a clue as to how the box and its contents came to be where they were.

GENERAL BOOTH.

A Visit to Darkest England—A Glimpse at the Work Being Done.

I have just returned from a visit to England, and while spending a few weeks with a friend in the great city, I was induced much against my will, to spend a day in Darkest England, my mind had always been prejudiced against the work of the Army, and it was with the greatest reluctance I yielded to the wishes of my friend. It was a bright morning towards the end of April, when we started for Argyle street, King's Cross. Our first visit was to the Bridge, or in other words the Prison Home. It had only been opened about six weeks and the good being done already speaks volumes. I soon lost my prejudices and became thoroughly interested. Breakfast was just over, the men were chatting together, or reading papers and books of which there were plenty. There was first a large work room, in which mat-making, carpentering and wood-chopping is carried on; then there was a reading-room and smoking-room, and also the clean and bright dormitories, with their six or seven beds, the walls being dotted here and there with illuminated texts. Altogether there were about 34 residents, amongst whom I found an old man who went by the name of Dad, and who, I learnt, had spent some 40 years in gaol. There was also a lawyer who had spent five years in penal servitude for forgery, and many other equally sad cases. Three boys have been sent there instead of to prison by the magistrates to to give them a fresh chance. Situations have already been found for a few.

My next visit was to the Food and Shelter Depot, in Whitechapel Road. This is the chief of all the social institutions of the Army. Here for a penny or twopence, the hungriest man may quiet the cravings of his appetite, while for fourpence he may feast like a lord. In the kitchen joining are hugh boilers from which are turned out the steak pudding for which the Army is noted, and to get a piece of which is the ambition of all. Soup flows like a river, some 500 gallons a week being made. At this depot, which is a type of others, in other parts of the city, Bristol, Leeds, and other large provincial towns, some 200 beds are made up every night. In Southwark street, there is the Ark, and the Harbor near Dury lane, and men who can pay 6d. a night can have a room to themselves in a house which is made as cheerful and home-like as possible. From here I went to the Factory for married men, in Fieldgate street. I found the men are paid in cash for all work done and that they live in their own homes. Here is the home of the men working in Old street and Hanbuy street factories, smoking room, reading room and a large room and for meetings are found; in the latter addresses and religious entertainments are given every evening, which I was told are well attended. From here I was taken to the Match Factory, where a large number of men and girls are engaged, splitting the skillets and filling the frames, to be dipped at each end and afterwards cut in the middle; others were testing the friction, making and filling the boxes. The factory is lighted and ventilated well, though wages paid are 50 per cent. more than in any other factory, and the hours only eight and a half daily. No sulphur is use in the manufacture, which causes so much disease to the workers, and they are supplied with a good dining room. Across the road is one of the shelters for women. Here are three large bedrooms, scrupulously clean, warmed well lighted and ventilated. The beds, composed of thin leather cases filled with seaweed, are placed in wooden boxes, side by side, and very much appreciated they are, hundreds being turned away, to make the best shelter possible under the archways, or worse still, in tramping the streets all night long. For a penny she may get what is popularly known as a door step, a round and a half of bread and butter, an inch and a half thick, with a pint of hot strong tea; for two pence she may find shelter from 3 p.m. until 8 a.m. next morning, during which time they are permitted to wash their linen and dry it on hot pipes in a large laundry. A bath when entering is compulsory. Next door is the criche, in charge of a young lady with an assistant. Down stairs is a room devoted to those children who can walk, while upstairs are arranged cradles for those of more tender ages. Mothers may leave their children from three weeks to seven years' old, to be nursed, fed, washed and dressed, for 3d. a day, while they themselves go to work. From here to Old street, I find what was very recently a brewery, a hive of industry. The building will soon accommodate some 500 workmen. A large number are already being taught a trade, while others are busy at mattress making, carpentering and other simple employment. A gas engine is to be put in and some £15 to £20,000 spent on the building and the plant. My last visit the Hanbury Street Factory. What a neighborhood! How well I remember going down this very street some three or four years ago just after the Whitechapel murder in Mitre Square. Almost every house is occupied by a Jew. On every hand and every side you are met with Hebrew writing; the streets are paved, narrow and filthy, the children running about shoeless and stockingless, and oaths and curses meet you at every side. This is a large factory. As you pass from one room to another, you see men whose lives, if written, would make a thrilling story, of crime and misery, engaged in making brooms, chopping wood, making furniture, bootlaces and many other useful articles. Every man is supposed to earn 14d. a day, which all are quite able to do; if they do not do so they get less food. The meals are very solid and consist of meat, steak puddings and vegetables in abundance. The hours are from 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. with an hour and a half off for dinner, during which time a portion of the time is devoted to a service which is not compulsory, but which as a rule is well attended. As I walked among the busy workers I could see many who had known what it was to live in ease and luxury brought here, some by drink and some by crime, but each one, and all testifying to the good and the blessing experienced at the Army. The officer under whose charge these different homes are placed, are nearly all drawn from the class to be found in each home, and it is by no means easy to understand how such sterling fellows have been redeemed from such a life of crime.

In conclusion, I would say the General has secured some 800 acres for his farm colony, while in the West End premises will shortly be opened for salvage work. Then there is the People's Lawyer, and also the People's Bank, while through the columns of far-famed War Cry, the hearts of fathers and mothers are often made to rejoice over the restoration of son or daughter. I think the pleople of England, and not England only, will long have cause for thankfulness for the £130,000 entrusted to General Booth, and if he does not carry out his idea quite so sanguinely as he expects, he will, there is no doubt, achieve a great and lasting blessing to many thousands of homeless and starving souls. ENGLAND'S SNOW-

Severe Winters Which Will Always Be Remembered.

A Record of the Cold Snaps Experienced in Great Britain During the Last Two Centuries—Six Months of Steady Snow.

The great snow-storm, when the Thames was frozen over for nearly four months, occurred in 1683-84, says a writer in London Tid-Bits. The frost continued without intermission from December to February, snow coming down almost continuously, so that some parts of the country were well-nigh impassable. To add to the discomfort a bitter east wind blew all the time. Ships anxious to enter the port of London were obliged to remain at the mouth of the Thames, and crews suffered great privations. Provisions were dear, horses and cattle often died of cold, and scarcely a bird lived through the winter. The citizens of London, however, resolved on having some profit out of the extraordinary weather, built a regular colony on the ice-bound Thames. Shops, taverns, coffee-houses, booths for dramatic representations, printing offices and similar buildings sprang up like magic. This winter was probably the severest ever known in England, though the following one of 1684-85 was famous for its extreme cold.

In 1719 came a week's fall of snow in January, followed by a long, hard frost. Provisions became so dear in the west of England that bread was sold by its weight in money, and coals were forty shillings a quart. The year of 1784 was remarkable for another severe winter. Snow began falling on the 7th of October and fell, almost without intermission, until the 2d of April in the following year, or for nearly 180 days in all. In addition to this a strong frost prevailed during the same period. The Thames was again frozen over in 1788, 1793 and 1798. In the following year, the last of the century, a terrible snow-storm raged throughout the midland counties. In his work on the "Climate of England," Whistlecraft says that during the storm a poor woman name Woodcock, a native of Cambridge, was buried in the snow for eight days. She lived for several months after being rescued.

The year 1812 is famous in history as that of the terrible retreat of the grand army from Moscow, in which Napoleon's forces were weakened by the loss of four hundred thousand men. This year saw some exceptionally severe snow-storms in the southwest of England. Bray, a local magnate of Lavissock, returning from Exeter by way of Dartmoor, found the snow so thick at Moreton Hampstead that it was impossible to proceed farther on his homeward journey. At Moreton Hampstead he was obliged to remain for no less than three weeks until the snow had cleare off sufficiently for him to resume his travels. The winter of 1814 is still remembered by some very old people as that of the "Great Frost." Snow was so deep and remained so long on the roads that the mail coaches were prevented from running, and communication between the chief centers of population was extremely difficult, and in some cases impossible.

Six years later the southwest of England suffered from another terribly severe snow-storm. On Dartmoor the snow was several feet deep, and numerous fatalities occurred, persons not only being lost, but those who went out to seek them also perishing in the great drifts. The snow-storm of December, 1836, was the most severe fall known to England since that of 1719. The snow began falling on the 24th and continued over Christmas day into Boxing day. By the evening of the latter it had drifted in some places to a depth of forty and even fifty feet. This snow-storm extended all over the country, and numerous lives were lost in it. Business was almost at a standstill, as the mail coaches could not run, and correspondence was delayed for over a week.

In 1844 came another severe snow-storm, during which several mail coaches had to be dug out of the drifts, among them being the noted "Quicksilver," once famous for its rapid trips. Seventy men were employed in releasing this coach from the snow before it could proceed on its way. During the last forty years there have been several severe snow-storms, but none great enough to warrant us in contradicting our grandfathers when they say that "these times are nothing like the old ones—for snow-storms or any thing else."

REPORT RECOMMENDING HOME FOR INDIGENT POOR ADOPTED.

The Old French Hospital Will Probably be Used Temporary—Difficulty of Appointing Police Magistrate—Two Statutes of Municipal Act Contradict Each Other.

Sharp on the stroke of 8 o'clock last evening, Mayor Grant and all the aldermen, except Ald. Richards, took their seats at the Council Board.

The minutes of the last regular meeting and special meeting were read and adopted.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were read, from:

Citizens of Seattle—extending to the mayor and council an invitation to be present at Seattle during the 3rd and 4th of July, on the occasion the celebration of the 115th anniversary of the declaration of independence. Received and accepted with thanks.

A similar invitation from Fairhaven, was dealt with in like manner.

S. B. Netherby, enclosing invitation to mayor and aldermen to attend the closing exercises of the Central School. Received and accepted with thanks.

D. Butler, calling attention to an old stable on Victoria crescent and asking that it be removed. Referred to building inspector with power to act.

John Teague, asking for new plank walk on Fisgard street. Referred to street committee.

Charles Kent, honorary secretary of Queen's birthday celebration committee, reporting a deficit and asking how it could be met. Received and deficit ordered paid.

D. W. Higgins, re taking over the property of Dr. Powell and Bishop Cridge. Referred to street committee to report.

W. G. Luker, for ratepayers of Spring Ridge, asking for grading of Spring Ridge road—Referred to street committee with power to act.

C. J. Wilson, asking for assistance of the Council in aid of a new public library, under the charge of the Ancient Order of Foresters.—Referred to library committee.

J. T. Pierre asking for $40 from the city towards paying for a sidewalk in front of his block.—Referred to street committee to report.

A. J. Wilbur, asking that water connection be made with his house near Ross Bay cemetery.—Referred to water commissioner and committee.

Morrow, Holland & Co., asking the city to take over Stafford avenue.—Referred to street committee to report.

Brackman & Ker, with reference to water for their new mill.—Referred to finance committee.

Bodwell & Irving, for Gabriel & Olsen, complaining that the Council had infringed on their patents in the manufacture of drain pipe joints.—Received and filed.

Capt. John Irving, saying that he had instructed all the captains on his line of steamers to watch for any signal of distress on Darcy Island in accordance with request of Council.—Received and clerk instructed to write Capt. Irving, thanking him for his courtesy.

R. Erskine, for board of school trustees, turning over the sum of $233 deposited in bank and bank book, which was held by school trustees in trust for the furnishing of a gymnasium for the Public School.—Received and referred to City clerk to investigate and report next meeting.

Watson Clark & Co., enclosing resolutions passed by residents of Oakland, at a recent meeting, asking for water, street grading and a new public school, and also to be made into a separate ward.—Received and referred to the different commissioners under their several heads.

H. Carmichael and four others, asking for sidewalk and street grading on Lewis street.—Referred to street committee.

Ald. Coughlan, giving notice of motion to introduce a by-law to sell city lot on Yates street.

J. Boscowitz, protesting against the appointment of Mr. Belyea as police magistrate.—Received and filed.

[The "protest" recites alleged facts in connection with the Boscowitz-Warren litigation, or growing out of the proceeding in connection therewith.]

BY-LAWS.

First reading of by-law to amend the Cemetery By-law.

REPORTS.

Finance Committee reported, recommending that the council lease the old French hospital for a period of six months at a rental of $100 per month, with privilege of renewing at the expiration of the term. This to include all the bedding and furniture in the building at present. Aldermen Renouf, Holland and Munn were recommended as a committee to arrange for the lease and see to the care of the aged and infirm. The committee had submitted a proposition to Brackman & Ker with regard to their communication re the mill. With regard to Mayor Oppenheimer's communication, requesting aid for the Provincial exhibit, it was recommended by the committee that the city lend its aid, and that the council take steps to have Victoria suitably represented at the coming exhibition.

The report caused a great deal of discussion. All were in favor of the home, but differed somewhat as to the way to go about it.

Ald. Coughlan said that while he was in accord with the home he wished to see the council go into the matter in a legal manner, and pointed out that nothing could be done in the matter until a by-law had been passed.

Ald. Renouf said that he thought that the matter should be taken up as quickly as possible. It had been estimated that the home could be maintained for $50 per month.

Ald. Coughlan moved that the report be laid on the table for one week.

The Mayor said the council had toave this matter some time, and the sooner they did so the better; that the city was responsible for its indigent poor and that any distressed person could demand assistance of the corporation. Poor persons were continually sending to the City Hall asking for aid, and it could not relieve them. In fact there were some being kept in the city lockup. He felt great urgency of this question being taken up at once, and pointed out that it was not only a question of humanity, but one which the city was compelled by the law to take hold of. There was now a sum of money in his possession for the maintenance of one person. And another man, who was getting old and decripit, would give several thousand dollars if assured of a comfortable home for the balance of his days.

Ald. Holland urged that the report should be adopted right away, as the term of office of the board of directors of the hospital would soon be out and he thought they were entitled to a definite answer before their time expired.

Ald Robertson was not in favor of the old French Hospital. He thought the city should purchase several acres of land just outside the city, where they could have a small farm and garden, and erect a building thereon.

Ald. Munn urged that some action be taken up immediately and thought that the old French Hospital would be plenty good enough for use at present. He did not think that the class of people who would occupy the home would be able to do much work as farmers.

Ald. Hunter thought the report should be adopted at once. He knew quite a number of old residents in the city who had not the means of subsistence, and who are too old and worn out with many hard years of toil to work. He thought the object a most worthy one.

Ald. McKillican said he did not think the old French Hospital would be a healthy place, that it was nonsense to pay such a large rental for such an old building, and thought that as they were going into the matter he thought it best to purchase land and erect a suitable building.

Ald. Smith was of the same opinion as Ald. McKillican, and thought that it would be best if the old hospital was burned down.

The report was received and adopted.

Streets committee recommended that the road along Government street from Yates to James Bay be levelled and graded.—Adopted.

Chief of Police Sheppard, called the attention of the police committee to the dangerous condition of the corner of Fort and Government streets and suggested that a railing be put up round that corner.

Ald. Smith thought it would not be safe to put up a railing, and said that some of the cars projected for some distance over the sidewalk.

The report was referred to the street and police committees with power to act.

TO WELCOME THE A. O. U. W.

Ald. Renouf introduced a resolution that the council extend a hearty welcome to the Grand Lodge of A.O.U.W. of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia, which meets in this city 14th July.—Adopted.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Ald. McKillican gave notice that he would introduce a motion at the next meeting of the council to readjust the wards in the new city limits.

Ald. Holland called attention to the fact that the time for paying for the city market site had expired. He moved in two motions that $7250 be advanced out of the general revenue to the credit of the market site; and $7500 be advanced out of the general revenue to the credit of the market building. Both motions were carried.

Ald. Hunter suggested that the mayor call a special meeting to consider the finances of the city. The mayor appointed Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Ald. Smith reported that Mr. McBean had a quantity of rock that he would give the city free.—The matter was referred to the street committee with power to act.

Ald. Munn reported verbally for the park committee on Mr. J. H. Brownlee's offer to give the city 20 acres of land at the summit of Mount Tolmie. He thought it was a beautiful view, but the committee could not agree altogether with Mr. Brownlee, and he suggested that the council ask Mr. Brownlee to be present Monday evening and discuss the matter.

The question of notifying Mr. Belyea of his election as police magistrate was discussed at some length.

Ald. Hunter pointed out that there was a serious discrepancy under the Municipalities Act. Under that Act, section 219, provision is made for the appointment of a police magistrate by election by council and necessitates the approval of the Lieut.-Governor. Section 269 of the same Act gives the authority to the council, and does not require the assent of the Lieutenant-Governor. his last section also requires that the police magistrate shall be a Justice of the Peace, and it was a question in the minds of some of the aldermen if any police judge had been appointed, if not, Mr. Belyea would have to be elected again by the council, after he had been created a Justice of the Peace.

Ald. McKillican moved that the matter be referred to the police committee and city barristers, and should there be any doubt as to the appointment, they will report at next regular meeting. Council then adjourned.

They poulticed her feet and poulticed her head,
And blistered her back till 'twas smarting and red,
Tried tonics, elixirs, pain-killers and salves,
(Enough grandma declared it was nothing but "nerves.")
The poor woman thought she must certainly die,
Till "Favorite Prescription" she happened to try,—
No wonder its praises so loudly they speak;
She grew better at once, and was well in a week.

The torturing pains and distressing nervousness which accompany at times, certain forms of female weakness, yield like magic to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, and adapted to the delicate organization of woman. It allays and subdues the nervous symptoms and relieves the pain accompanying functional and organic troubles. Guarantee printed on bottle wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

3 PRACTICAL POINTS

One of the most successful German physicians gave as the secret of his wonderful success these three important points:—

1. Keep the Head Cool.
2. Keep the Bowels Open.
3. Keep the Feet Warm.

These conditions are not so easily obtained as one would think. Why? Because without pure and healthy blood a vigorous circulation cannot be kept up, and because the food and occupation of most people tends to clog up the bowels and produce constipation. The success of B. B. B., like that of the German physician, lies in so purifying the blood and regulating the bowels, liver and stomach, that these three conditions are fulfilled easily, and disease can find no lodgment in the body.

THE BEST SPRING MEDICINE.

B B B

This medicine does purify the blood and cure all diseases arising from impure or unhealthy blood. It does regulate the entire system and cure constipation, dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, scrofula, skin diseases, rheumatism, and all disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. During the past ten years over one million bottles have been sold in Canada, and, although we guarantee every bottle to do all we claim, we have not received a single complaint.

A HIGH AND HOLIER LIFE.

Resolution Proposed at the Synod—Clubs and Street Lectures Advocated.

During the proceedings of the Synod of Columbia Mr. W. H. P. Anden proposed, and Rev. M. C. Browne seconded the following resolution:

That in consideration of the difficulty which is experienced in directing the thoughts and minds of young men toward a more spiritual and Christian life, and in counteracting the tendencies of the age, viz., materialism, selfishness, gambling and impurity, this Synod agrees to the following resolutions as tending towards the desired object viz. a higher, holier and more religious life in the community.

(a.) That the co-operation of all who may have the foregoing object in view be invited.

(b.) That clubs be established in which all legitimate pleasure such as billiards, etc., and entertainments could be had and which shall incorporate the mutual benefit system.

(c.) That these clubs be under the direct control and supervision of a committee of citizens of which the Governor, Premier, the Mayor and the clergy will be ex-officio members.

(d.) That a regular series of lectures be arranged for by this committee on such topics as:—

The importance of a spiritual life.

The influence of Christianity on civilization.

The practical lessons of the Sermon on the Mount.

The lessons of history in proof of "Righteousness exalteth a nation."

Individualism vs. Christianity.

Temperance and its advantages.

The evils of gambling, especially in land.

(e) That an effort be made to preach the Church of England doctrine of Hope and Mercy to those helpless ones in the streets, who can be reached no other way.

(f) That the Lord Bishop of Columbia be requested to call a meeting of citizens to discuss or carry out the foregoing resolutions.

Mr. Anden supported the motion, which was lost, in a lengthy and able speech.

The Anglican Synod.

The synod of the Anglican Church of the diocese of British Columbia, met yesterday in the school room of Christ Church Cathedral. During the preliminary services the sermon was preached by Rev. G. H. Tovey, of St. Albans, Nanaimo. The following officers and members were present: President, the Lord Bishop; chancellor, Hon. Justice Drake; registrar, Lindley Crease, Esq.; treasurer, Sir Joseph W. Trutch, K.C.M.G.; clerical secretary, Ven. Archdeacon Scriven; lay secretary, E. Baynes Reed, Esq.

NON-OFFICIAL MEMBERS.

Revs. A. J. Beanlands, J. A. Leakey, W. D. Barber, H. Kingman, G. W. Taylor, G. H. Tovey, M. C. Browne, S. C. Scholefield. Messrs. Ront Harvey, Major C. T. Dupont, H. E. Croasdaile, Hon. Justice Crease, Hon. P. O'Rielly, Lt.-Col. Wolfenden, W. C. Ward, W. H. S. Perkins.

The annual address was then read by His Lordship Bishop Hill. It was a general outline of the work done in the diocese during the past year, and pointed out what was contemplated for the ensuing year. He called the synod's attention to the fact that there was still due £250 from the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge for the Clergy Endowment Fund. In speaking of the proposed consolidation of the Anglican church in Canada, he said that the formation of a general synod would have the effect of interfering with the powers of provincial and diocesan synods, and be a step at once unnecessary and not beneficial to the best interests of the church.

At the conclusion of the address, resolutions of regret were passed on account of the death of Sir John A. Macdonald and sympathy for Mrs. Macdonald. The reports of all the standing committees were presented, read and adopted, after which the synod adjourned.

Cultivate Cheerfulness Every Day.

Our Canadian people should bear in mind, that cheerfulness enables nature to recruit its strength; whereas worry and discontent always debilitate, with their constant wear and tear. It is almost impossible to find this cheerfulness of character, and buoyancy of spirits, in those whose nerves are weak and unstrung; who, instead of enjoying sound, healthy sleep at night, are wakeful and restless. Cheerfulness cannot be found in the remorse and dyspeptic subject; his poor digestion makes him miserable and peevish, cross and unloveable.

In order to produce a cheerful disposition, which always aids digestion, increases strength and banishes worry and care; Paine's Celery Compound is without doubt the best and most reliable agent. It removes all the disorders of the nervous system and weary brain; brings calm and rest, and gives a vitality which is a guarantee of good health and robustness. Paine's Celery Compound stands alone in this great work, and physicians gaze in surprise on its wonderful results. Use it reader without delay and secure a genuine, cheerful, and hearty disposition, and make those around you happy.

The American Jay.

The Vancouver correspondent of the Post-Intelligencer telegraphs: Jay Ewing's contemptible conduct at Whatcom is the subject of universal criticism here. The American consul is now completely ostracised. No Canadian with any regard for his social standing will have anything to do with him, except what in a business way he cannot avoid. The latest feature is the preparation and circulation of a petition to the Ottawa Government, asking it to insist on his immediate removal. Canadians and Americans here recognize that Ewing is no type of an American gentleman, and they take the utmost pains to show that they know just where to place him.

Purify The importance of keeping the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is heredited and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does when fairly expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. In its preparation, its medicinal merit, and the wonderful cures it accomplishes Hood's Sarsaparilla is Peculiar to Itself. Thousands testify to its success, and the best advertising Hood's Sarsaparilla receives is the hearty endorsement of its army of friends. Every testimonial we publish, and every statement we make on behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla may be relied upon as strictly true in every respect.

Your Blood

If you need a good blood purifier or building up medicine, be sure to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Further information and statements of cures sent free to all who address us as below.

COAL

The New Vancouver Coal Mining & Land Co., L'd.

(FORMERLY THE VANCOUVER COAL CO.),

ARE THE LARGEST COAL PRODUCERS ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

THE NANAIMO COAL (Used principally for Gas and Domestic Purposes).

THE SOUTH FIELD COAL (Steam Fuel).

THE NEW WELLINGTON COAL

(House and Steam Coal) are mined by this Company only.

THE "NANAIMO" COAL gives a large percentage of Gas, a high Illuminating Power, unequalled by any other Bituminous Gas Coal the world, and a superior quality of Coke.

THE "SOUTH FIELD" COAL is now used by all the Leading Steamship Lines o the Pacific.

THE "NEW WELLINGTON" COAL, which was introduced early in the present year, has already become a favorite fuel fo domestic purposes. It is a clean, hard coal, makes a bright and cheerful fire, and its lasting qualities make it the mo economical fuel in the market.

The several Mines of the Company are connected with their Wharves at Nanaimo and Departure Bay, where ships of the largest tonnage are loaded at all states of the tide. Special dispatch is given to Mail and Ocean steamers.

THE HUNTERS' PICNIC.

A number of live birds have been procured for the hunters' picnic next Sunday at Langford Plains.

Americanite, a New Explosive.

The ordnance experts have been invited to test another high explosive, the inventors of which claim for it all the desired qualities of the dangerous compound: that is, a perfect safety in the handling by yourself and an exterminating destructiveness of your enemy. The explosive in the present instance has the patriotic name of Americanite and is manufactured over in Virginia. It was tested some months ago at the army ordnance firing ground, with no very satisfactory results, but since that time the manufacturers have, they claim, improved its efficiency. It does not, they say, deteriorate with the changes of temperature or the advance of time and has codsiderably more energy than an equal amount of dynamite. an explosive military men have apparently given up the idea of using in warfare. The naval ordnance bureau has been conducting tests with high explosives and with smokeless powder, and some of the officers interested in those tests state that the time is not far distant when a high explosive will be fired by a powder charge from several service guns. Some time ago it was thought that a desirable explosive was found in Emmensite, the invention of a Pennsylvania man, of which Commodore Folger reported some desirable qualities. Americanite is said to be capable of explosion by a gunpowder fuse when strongly confined, like Emmensite, and can be detonated without the use of fulminate, a feature of peculiar value for ordnance purposes. This new explosive will be brought to the attention of the board of ordnance and fortification, which holds its next meeting in New York on the 15th inst.

Another large consignment of those extra value men's $2.50 laced and Congress Shoes; also $2.00 Oxford, just received at the One Price Cash House of Carmichael & Paterson, 35 Johnson street.

Those We Read About.

Herbert Spencer has joined the British Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

Princess Bismarck is in such poor health that the physicians doubt the possibility of her recovery.

Mme. Adam, the French authoress and magazine editor, is nearly 60 years old, but she has the spirit and energy of a girl. Her first book was published 32 years ago.

Edward Bellamy, it is stated, has received royalties of $37,000 from his "Looking Backward" and is peering into futurity for more. For six generations his grandfathers have been clergymen.

Ellen Terry played for several years under the management of Charles Reade, whom she characterizes in one sentence as "dear, lovable, aggravating, child-like, crafty, gentle, obstinate, and entirely delightful and interesting."

Sir William Whiteway, the Newfoundland premier, whose defiance of British control has made him famous, has long had a reputation for able statesmanship. He is a man of middle life, stout and well preserved, with expansive side-whiskers and a military moustache.

George Augustus Sala is a jolly, red-faced and small-eyed man of 63, who is always trying to cultivate a somewhat attenuated mustache, which does not seem to be on good terms with itself. He is one of the most pleasantest and readable writers on the London Telegraph, but is at his best in gossiping, sketchy and amusing personal and scenic description.
